WHEC2020

23rd World Hydrogen Energy Conference

July 5-9, 2020

Istanbul Congress Center, Istanbul, Turkey

Updated on May 2, 2019

The hydrogen world is coming to Istanbul!

Why Istanbul?

Istanbul is the largest city in Turkey and is also among the 15 largest urban areas in the world. It is located on the Bosphorus Strait and covers the entire area of the Golden Horn, a natural harbor. Istanbul extends from Europe into Asia, connecting the two continents and making it the world's only metropolis to expand over two continents. The city of Istanbul is geographically crucial because it has a long history that spans the rise and fall of the world's most famous empires.

Istanbul will bring researchers, academicians, industrial professionals, and all individuals interested in the field of hydrogen energy together with WHEC2020. Due to its unique location, Istanbul is easily accessible from all around the world; mostly by non-stop direct flights. A fun, diverse, historic place that is also easy to reach is sure to enhance the participation to WHEC2020; which will result in a fruitful conference with practical ideas and action plans.

Why WHEC?

The World Hydrogen Energy Conference is an excellent occasion for international and Turkish communities to work together to enhance the global activities in the field of hydrogen energy systems for a sustainable future. The dissemination of knowledge on hydrogen energy will foster interest in the new scientific and technological activities. The size and characteristics of the Turkish industry and its big markets offer excellent opportunities for global partnerships that can support the introduction of new technologies in commercial scale.
